

Software Engineering Workshop

Here are some suggestions for tasks to be getting on with:

- Produce some Class, Component or Deployment diagrams for the system you are developing for group project, if you think they are relevant and could help with the team's understanding of the system.
- Have a general project meeting to discuss your progress. You could include a debate on which UML diagrams would be particularly appropriate for communicating the structure of the system within your team.